

About Dr. Peter M Hart

Director, Insight SRC and Honorary Senior Fellow, University of Melbourne

Dr Peter Hart holds a Ph.D. in industrial and organisational psychology. He is currently the Director of Insight SRC Pty Ltd, and an Honorary Senior Fellow in the School of Behavioural Science at the University of Melbourne. Peter has worked with a range of organisations throughout Australia, the United Kingdom and North America in the areas of leadership, organisational climate, staff satisfaction, and performance.

In particular, Peter has pioneered the development of new diagnostic techniques that provide organisations with information about the key drivers (i.e., causes) of staff motivation and performance. He has been instrumental in helping organisations to integrate these diagnostic systems into the operating procedures that are used for enhancing leadership and managerial capability, staff motivation, and organisational performance.

Peter has published extensively in international scientific journals, including the Academy of Management Journal, Journal of Occupational and Organizational Psychology, and the Journal of Applied Psychology, has been the recipient of some of Australia's most prestigious research awards, and is a regular presenter at key international conferences in the fields of management and organisational psychology.
